Minden diamond will sparkle

Council okays Minden Park

The first phase of the Minden Township Park plan will get underway this summer now that both provincial and municipal funding are in place.

While commenting on the new municipal budget last week, Reeve Ray Moore noted that council will be transferring the required $78,173 from the parks reserve fund for use on this project.

Two weeks ago council received word that a provincial grant for the project had been approved. At that time, though, it was not clear whether the municipality would be able to come up with the matching funds required to receive the grant.

The project is being funded equally by the municipality and the province and is expected to cost almost $160,000. It involves the creation of a new ball diamond, a playground, washrooms, a parking area and tree planting. The Minden Township Park Plan was updated in 1987 and Parks Manager Ivan Ingram submitted the grant application a year ago.

Ingram says he was surprised that the Ministry of Tourism approved the grant this year. He said that when he had not heard by the end of April, he figured the application had been turned down.

The new ball diamond will be built next to the present lower diamond behind the arena and curling club. The creation of the new ball diamond is expected to account for about half the cost of this phase of the park plan. It includes a backstop and fencing, lights and electrical, sod, magnetic bases, players benches and dugouts, three sets of bleachers and two scoreboards.

The children's playground, which will be located next to the two ball diamonds, will be a metal or wood prefabricated unit and is expected to cost about $8,000.

The washroom facilities will be complete with showers. This 836-square-foot building will also include a storage area and control panels for the lighting at the ball diamonds. This building is expected to cost more than $50,000.

A new parking lot will also be built as part of this project and there will be some tree planting done around the baseball fields.

The Minden Township Park masterplan has been in place since 1970. It was updated in 1978 and again in 1987. However, few of the recommendations have been implemented until now.

As another part of the park plan, the Parks Department has cleared the underbrush in the area east of the ball diamond, where 70 campsites will be located.

The second phase of this project is expected to be more costly than the first. It involves the creation of recreational trails in the southern half of the park.

The senior students at Archie Stouffer Elementary School hit a high note Thursday evening with their annual music night. The concert provided an opportunity for the students, individually and in groups, to demonstrate the musical talents acquired during the past year. Concentration shows in the faces of grade eight band members Corby Kent, left, and Danny Garbutt, indicative of the effort made by all performers.

Snowdon taxes will rise 17%

Snowdon Township residents are being slapped with a 17 per cent increase in their property taxes this year as a result of the new budget approved by council on May 15.

The overall tax hike is the result of a 29 per cent increase in the municipal levy, a 16.9 per cent increase in the education levy and a 4.6 per cent increase in the county levy.

The largest increase is in the roads budget, which is going up by $23,473 this year for a 20 per cent increase. High percentage increases are seen in the budgets for fire protection (75 per cent) and environment (162 per cent).

The budget for general government is going up by three per cent.

Excluding the county and education levies, the municipality will be raising $97,973 through taxation this year. That's an increase of 29.2 per cent over the previous year.

Part of this hike is due to a roll back in the funding from the province, says township clerk Ernie Hills. Last year the province covered more than 53 per cent of the municipal budget and this year it's down to 48.15 per cent. This roll back forced the municipality to increase its revenue from taxation.

The increase in the budget for environmental services stems from the need to control access to the dumps. This is a directive from the Ministry of the Environment, which threatened to close the dumps if the township couldn't put a stop to all the fires.

The increase in costs is based on estimates to fence and provide manpower at the dumps. Other major costs in this area are for the creation of a recycling program to enhance the lifespan of the dumps.

The increased cost for fire protection is the result of a new agreement with Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships fire department that calls for an extra $4,500 for the fire protection standby fee.

Kayak races will be seen on CBC sports

Hard work by the promoters of this summer's World Cup Kayak races at the Minden Wild Water Preserve has paid off. Major television coverage of the July 1 and 2 event has now been confirmed.

Robert Grose, Chairman of the Race Organizing Committee, told The Times last week that this year's race will be filmed and aired on CBC television. The race will not be shown live, but will be filmed for viewing at a later date, said Grose.

Securing the television coverage is a major accomplishment. It demonstrates that the sport's profile is on the rise and that the Gull River course is a premier facility.

In addition to the coverage of the race, Grose said it is likely that CBC will also want to do a profile of the Minden area. This will help provide the sort of recognition that the township council has been hoping to gain from this facility for years.

Grose has been working for the past year trying to promote the World Cup race here. In addition to the television coverage, the race and the Wild Water Preserve will be the subject of stories to be published in a number of magazines, including 'Canoe', which Grose says is widely read by canoe and kayak enthusiasts.

As part of the promotion, the committee had a videotape of last year's race produced. Grose said they obtained the footage from Peterborough's CHEX news station and had Tier One productions put it together into a lively package with colour commentary, and bold graphics. This same production company will be in charge of the filming and production of this year's race for CBC, said Grose.

Many of the details of this race are now falling into place, said Grose. The Minden Rotary Club has agreed to provide billeting for the 15 to 30 racers from Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia. A new race announcer has agreed to provide the commentary on the day of the race and they are working to improve the sound system along the course.

This is the second season for World Cup racing. The Minden race will be the first of a seven-race circuit that winds up on August 20 in Tacen, Yugoslavia.

Area people who want to get a taste of this sport before the World Cup race can drop by the course almost any time and see people practicing. From June 6 to 13 there will be some high-calibre racers on the course as the Australian team comes to town to get in some practice for the World Championships the following weekend in the U.S.

Because the Minden World Cup race is just one week after the World Championships, it is expected that all top racers will be attending. In all, there will be 20 countries represented at the Minden Wild Water Preserve on July 1 and 2.

Bob Vick, former Reeve of Snowdon Township, was showered with gifts from friends, relatives and fellow politicians on May 13 during a special dinner and dance held in his honour. Vick served on council for more than two decades. His political career paralleled that of Bill Scott, the present Member of Parliament for Victoria and Haliburton counties. They both came onto the political scene at about the same time and they both began their political careers in Snowdon Township.

Tour groups to visit Highlands

A bus group of 40 Brockville residents will be touring the Highlands this Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in an attempt to find out if this area is suited to tours by the groups they represent.

The 'Fam Tour' which is being organized by the Haliburton Highlands

Chamber of Commerce will be touring the Highway 648 "Loop" on Tuesday and spend the evening at Hart Lodge and Deer Lodge.

On Wednesday the group will take a tour of the Highlands, starting out in the morning by heading north to the Frost Centre and then touring Stanhope Township and Haliburton Village.

On Wednesday morning the group will arrive in Minden to get a taste of the village and to do some shopping.

Chamber president says that Fam Tours can be an effective method of presenting this area to other potential tour groups. Each of the 40 people taking part in the Fam tour represents a group that may be interested in taking a future bus tour of this area.

County wants reassessment of property values

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Haliburton County Council is getting impatient waiting for the Ontario Ministry of Revenue to carry out a county-wide reassessment of property values.

At last Wednesday's meeting, council passed a resolution asking the province to carry through with the reassessment plan.

The county first requested the reassessment in July of 1987 and was promised the work would be done by 1989, but they have now been told they probably won't get the reassessment until 1991.

In bringing the matter to council's attention, Dysart et al Reeve Murray Fearrey said that the county is being "short changed" by the assessment branch of the ministry. He said that very little new assessment has been picked up since November of 1988 and with the province's flat-lining of unconditional grants this year is a poor time not to have the new assessment.

The county is asking for property values to be assessed at market value using prices from no earlier than 1988.

A letter is being sent to the Ministry asking for the reassessment to go ahead as promised.

Calling the tune

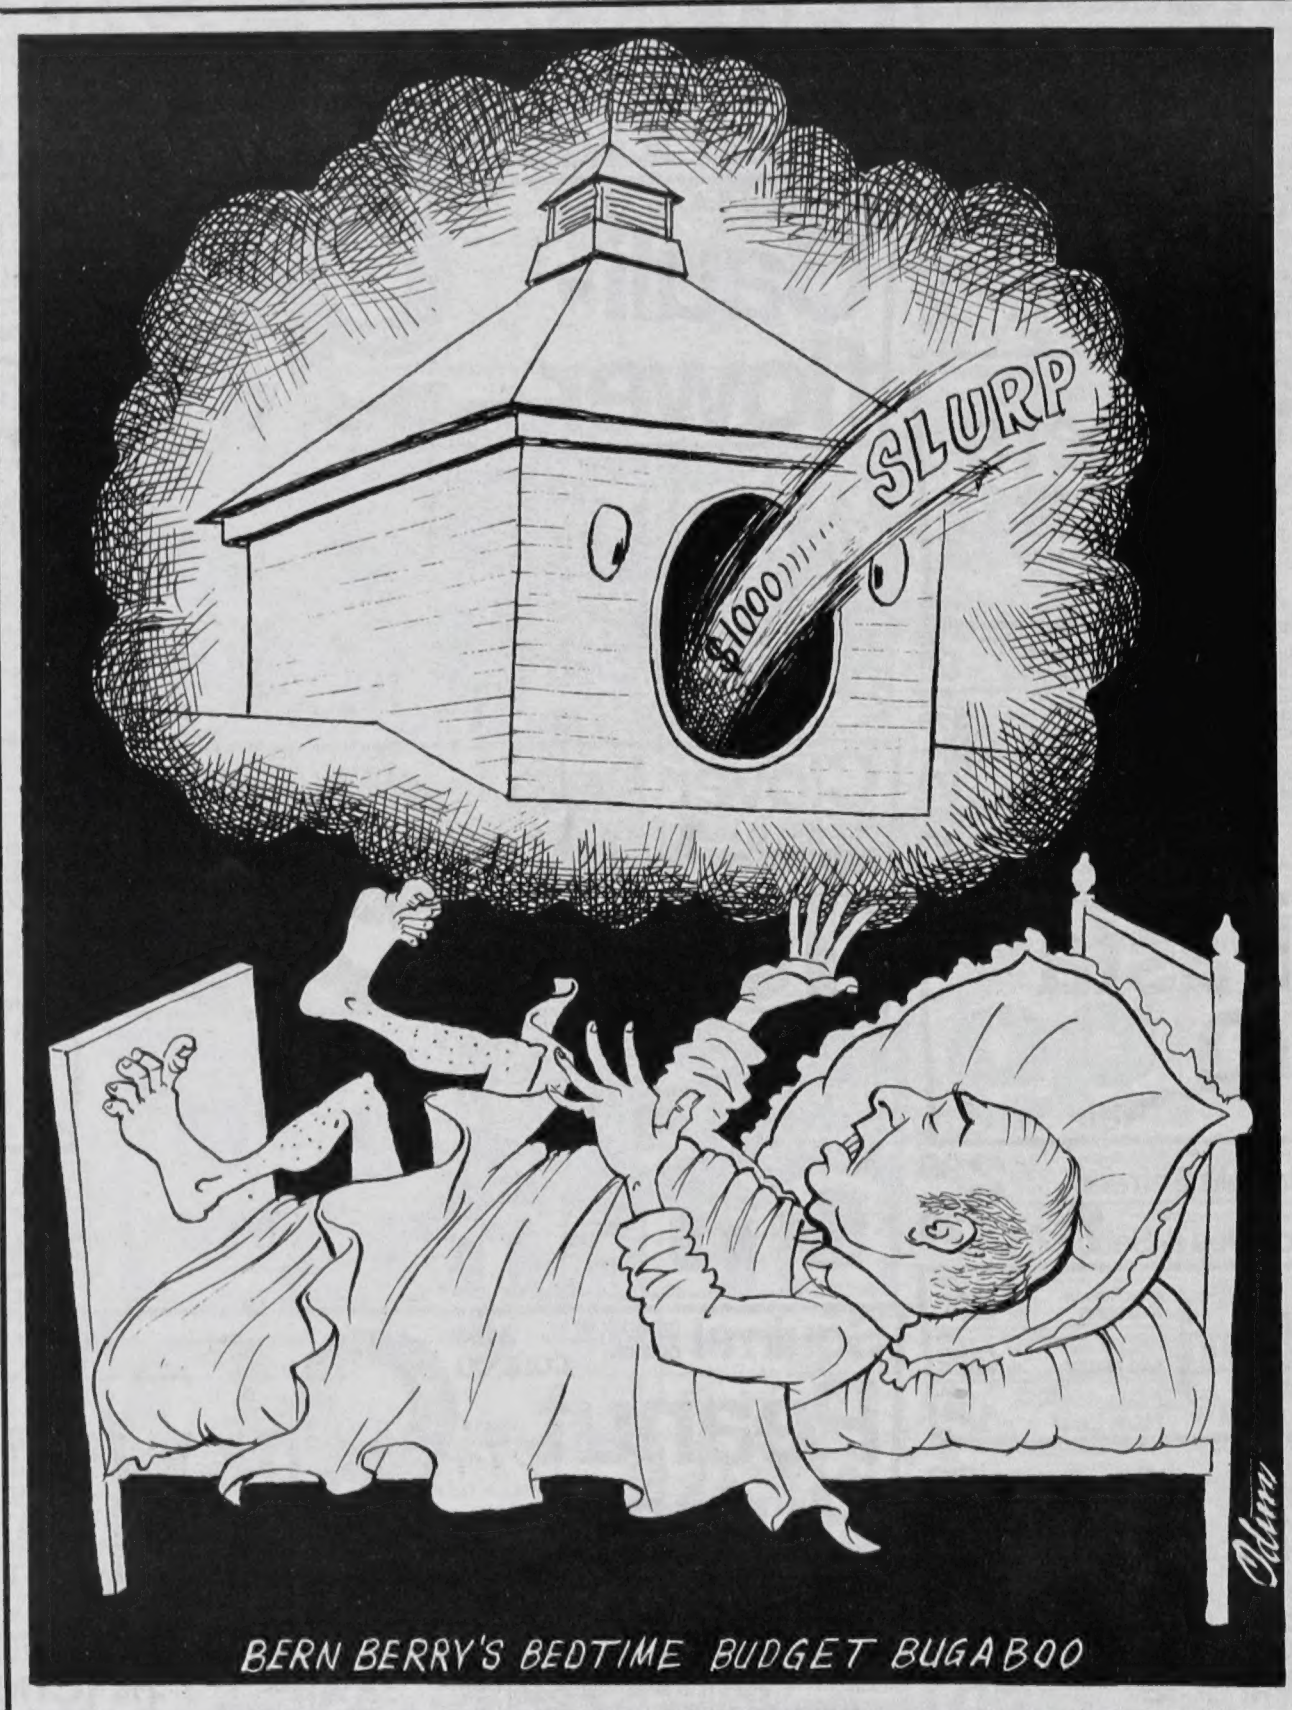

Like a boxer, badly mismatched, the Canadian taxpayer has taken a beating this spring. And, it appears the bruises will be long in healing. Staggering from one tax increase announcement to another, the sensibilities and pocketbooks have been pummeled by governments at all three levels. And the full impact of what has been announced so far has yet to be fully felt as some of the nuggets contained in the budget statements (federal sales tax, payroll tax, new debentures) won't be implemented until later.

Wrapping themselves in the cloak of righteousness, the finance ministers at the senior levels of government, tell us that deficit reduction is virtuous and they are our white knights, leading the charge to slay the ugly dragon. Before the citizens of Canada accept this fairy tale, they should realize the knights who claim to be riding to our rescue, are the same ones who led us into this dark abyss called deficit--the ones who refused to speak about taxes and deficits during the election campaigns--the ones who want you to believe that the deficit is your fault.

Other than for a few superficial reductions in spending, and the cancellation of programs not yet implemented, the senior levels of government have chosen to attack the deficit by raising taxes. This is the easy way out. The reason our national and provincial coffers are in such bad shape is because the elected representatives of the people have been spending too much--not because, as they would have you believe, the citizens have neglected to pay their "fair share."

It is time the citizens of this country and province started to call the tune again. It is time politicians and governments started acting responsibly with the taxes they lift from the pockets of Canadians. It is time people realized it is their government and their money, and not some far-off autonomous entity which has little or no connection to the average citizen. It is time people demanded deficit reduction and control, not by increased taxes but by reduced spending, by dismantling the empires which feed this dragon.

The citizens are paying the piper, and handsomely too, it is time they started calling the tune again.

Pondering the immortality of man

Out, out, brief candle

Life's but a walking shadow, a poor player
That struts and frets his hour upon the stage,
And then is heard no more.

Depressing as they sound, those words, put in the mouth of Macbeth by Bill Shakespeare, pretty much sum up the curriculum vitae for 99 per cent of humankind. We skitter around like headless chickens for our allotted span on this globe, then our ticket gets punched and we're on the fast track to oblivion. And what do we leave behind? Some friends. Some enemies. A few unreturned library books. With a little luck, a couple of bucks in the bank account to cover funeral expenses.

And that's about it for most of us. While we're alive we're the centre of the universe. We may amass fortunes, establish world records and be a household name from the Queen Charlottes to Witless Bay, but a couple of generations after they plant us in the marble orchard, we have all the historical relevance of pond scum. As usual, the Bard said it best:

Teach respect

Editor:

My son, who is in kindergarten, comes home on a regular basis complaining of bullies in the classroom, the school yard and on the bus. We try our best to teach him to deal with these upsetting confrontations in a calm and diplomatic way. "Walk away from it," we say, "tell a teacher." After all, they are the adults in our children's lives while away from us and at school; our children's security; the people responsible for the welfare of our children. He tells me they don't do anything about it.

After attending a recent Home and School Association meeting I discovered (and was shocked and distressed about it) that, basically, they don't do anything about it, claiming that there is no way they could discipline the number of "minor" offenders that there are and have to wait to deal with "repeat" offenders.

My opinion is--- nonsense! Nip it in the bud! Discipline the little tyrants who are in kindergarten and grade one and let them know that harassing other children is not a game and is absolutely unacceptable!

School is not only a place to learn reading, writing and arithmetic, it is a place where children should learn social skills--co-operation, self-discipline and consideration of others. We need these skills to get along in this world as well as any academic skills. But in recent years they seem to have gone by the wayside and we are being faced with fewer ambitious people and much more violence in our young people.

We, as parents, can only do so much. The first five years we have a lot of work to do teaching our children to share and be considerate of others. Then suddenly, off they go into a big and frightening world of bullies and tyrants. It is difficult to continue the lessons of consideration and gentleness, from one side when there is little or no help from the people who are with your children day after day. We need the school's help to take a more active part in discipline and teaching children how to get along with others. With the efforts of all our children's elders, they will learn an acceptable code of behavior and our kids can grow up in a less agitated environment and we will see more success as a whole.

It is time to wake up!

Mrs. Barbara Poirier,
Minden

The birth of a rocky landmark

So it goes for most members of the genus Homo Sapiens. But every once in a while someone comes along who isn't willing to settle for dust. Such a one is Albert Johnson of Smiley, Saskatchewan.

Albert is a farmer who works a big spread not far from the Saskatchewan-Alberta border, coaxing wheat out of the prairie soil. Some time ago, Albert decided that filling grain cars and raising a crop of kids -- fine and noble pastimes that they are -- were not enough. He wanted to leave something so that future generations would know that a man named Albert Johnson once passed this way.

So he took a rock -- his farm had plenty to spare and they were just lying around on the ground not doing much of anything -- he took a rock and placed it next to another rock. Then he walked over and got another and another. He placed them beside the first one. Pretty soon Albert was working evenings and even getting up extra early in the morning to gather his rocks.

He piled those rocks for twenty-seven years.

You can see the results today if you happen to be driving past Albert's farm on the outskirts of Smiley, Saskatchewan. Albert's Wall stands six feet high and nine feet wide at the base, tapering to two feet in width at the top. It runs from nowhere to nowhere for half a mile and there's not a dollop of cement or mortar to be found in it.

Over the years, Albert has added little refinements. He flattened out the top so visitors can walk along the wall. He built a sod house at one end for shelter and he leaves a guest book inside for visitors to sign.

And the visitors do come. Albert's registry book contains signatures and enthusiastic comments from tourists hailing from South Africa, Morocco and Argentina. So far, more than 3,000 people have climbed Albert's Wall and signed Albert's book. Not a bad draw for the town of Smiley, Pop. 111.

Not that the folks of Smiley have always been what you'd call solidly behind Albert Johnson's project.

Oh, they didn't sneer or laugh at him or anything, but there have been a few eye rollings and head shakings over the past quarter of a century. Even Albert's wife took to calling him "Stonewall Johnson" in a less than idolizing tone.

Didn't faze Albert. He just kept building his wall. Why? Albert won't say exactly. "I could tell you I built it to cut the wind" he muses, then adds with a chuckle, "but that would just be foolish, wouldn't it?"

Albert admits that the wall doesn't "keep anything out or hem anything in" but that doesn't seem to bother him either. And he thinks maybe the wall is about as big as it's going to get. He's 80 years old now and prefers watching tourists to hoisting rocks.

China has its Great Wall, Scotland has Hadrian's Wall, and they're both higher and longer, but they were built with thousands of hands. The wall near Smiley was built with just two.

Here's to you, Albert Stonewall Johnson. May your handiwork delight visitors for years to come. And dumbfound archaeologists in ages to come.

Chip truck shipped out

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Minden Council has decided not to renew the licence of the downtown chip wagon operated by Derwin Barry.

Barry was granted a temporary licence last summer but when he appeared at the council meeting on May 11, council told him they were not going to renew his licence because of objections to his operation by the Minden Business Improvement Association (BIA).

Reeve Ray Moore told Barry that there is nothing personal in the BIA's objections but said that some business owners found the chip truck unsightly and couldn't understand why it stayed on the Main Street location year round. There were also concerns about the lack of washroom facilities provided by Barry and the fact that he provided no parking for his customers. Moore recommended to council that they abide by the BIA's wishes and not renew the licence because the business association "pays heavy dollars to improve the downtown area." Councillor Mike Maher told Barry that the chip truck is "not consistent with the PRIDE overhaul of the downtown area."

In defense of his operation Barry said that he thought some of the restaurant owners complained because he was taking their customers but added he can't help it if he serves good food. Barry also said that when he was granted the licence last summer he was told he didn't require washrooms, because his operation is mobile, and that he had spent a lot of money on the site to pay for fill and a hydro hook-up.

Councillor Lewis Stevens said that Barry's truck doesn't look as good as the surrounding buildings.

Although he has to leave the downtown area, Barry may still be operating in the Minden area this summer. He told council that he is negotiating with the operator of the Esso station on Highway 35 to be able to place his chip truck on the service station's property. Council said he would still be able to operate the truck at special events.

Minden council is forcing Derwyn Barry to move his chip truck from the location on Bobcaygeon Road where he's been situated since last summer. Council cited the BIA's displeasure with the truck as the reason for not renewing the license.

County gets money for roads

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Municipalities in Haliburton County will be receiving $387,200 in supplementary funding from the Ministry of Transportation to be used to improve local roads and purchase new equipment.

The additional funding was announced by Victoria - Haliburton MPP John Eakins as part of a $870,000 package being shared by the two counties.

The largest single portion of Haliburton's money will go toward the design and construction of Monmouth Township's new municipal garage complex, which will receive $254,400 of the money.

Other projects in Haliburton County that will benefit from the allocation are:

- $31,000 toward the construction of Minden's Bobcaygeon Road.

- $6,800 toward resurfacing Hemlock Road in Bicroft Township.

- $13,300 for reconstruction and surfacing of Pine Drive in Cardiff Township.

- $30,800 toward the purchase of a new six-ton snowplow by Glamorgan Township and another $6,200 to allow the municipality to do a major overhaul on its 1970 grader, and,

- $24,700 to Lutterworth Township for repairs to a grader and a backhoe.

Eakins made the announcement on behalf of the Minister of Transportation Ed Fulton. "This is a substantial sum of money in addition to the regular funding," said Eakins. "It is just another example of assistance which is transferred to municipalities from the province every year."

Roads needs survey presented to county

Haliburton County Council has received the 1988 update of the Roads Needs Study from County Engineer Bill Obee.

The report, prepared by Totten, Sims and Hubicki, outlines the existing conditions of the county's road system as well as the work required over the next 10 years.

The county road system is currently comprised of 251.3 km of road and 11 bridges. For the 10-year construction needs, costs are estimated to be just over $35 million. Of that, $24 million is needed for roads and structures that are considered to be structurally deficient now.

The report includes a prioritized list of roads requiring work. Topping the list is the section of South Lake Road that runs 1.5 km east of Highway 35 to Bat Lake Road with an estimated project cost of $452,000. Other high-priority projects are Kawagama Lake Road, Deep Bay Road, and Livingston Lake Road.

The most costly of the County's immediate road requirements is reconstruction of the Kushog Lake Road from Stevens Road to Highway 35 with an estimated cost of $2.3 million.

The road construction needs are broken down into three categories. Projects are classified as either being 'Now' needs, 'one to five year' needs or 'six to 10 year' needs. Obee told the councillors that the Ministry of Transportation only considers the now needs plus the one to five year needs when calculating funding amounts.

Currently the county is funded at a level of 2.74 per cent per year of the total construction needs for up to five years. At that rate

The lights were shining on the Minden Rockcliffe Hustlers last Thursday night at the Minden diamond when they took on the Haliburton Warriors. Thursday's game was the home opener for the Hustlers. It followed on the heels of a loss two nights earlier in Haliburton.

Hustlers top Warriors at home

The Minden Rockcliffe Hustlers won their first home game of the season in front of a small but supportive crowd at the Minden diamond last Thursday evening.

Minden spread 16 hits over six innings to go away with an impressive 12-3 win.

It was an important game for the Hustlers as they lost to Haliburton two nights earlier by a narrow 3-0 margin.

The Hustlers got off to a fast start scoring four runs in the first inning and never looked back. Big guns at the plate for Minden were Brian Shaw who went three for three with two walks; Doug Shaw who went four for five with two stolen bases; Jack Snell pounded out three hits with a walk, and Dave Dollo made it to base in all five at bats.

Brian Shaw also picked up his first win at the mound with a season high 10 strikeouts.

The Hustlers will now play in Bobcaygeon on May 22 and at home against Fenelon Falls this Thursday night.

Senior kickers have winning start

The West Side Jug City Senior Soccer Team opened its 1989 season on May 7, with a 3 - 1 victory over the host Orillia City team in near blizzard conditions.

The freak snow-squall did not deter the Haliburton team from playing its usually aggressive ball control game.

Ivor Thompson and Todd Cooke lead the strong and often creative offense to the 1 - 0 half-time lead on Cooke's first goal of the season.

Excellent passing runs created the opportunity for Cooke to score his second goal five minutes into the second half and the strong defensive work of Darryl Goodall and Kevin Sicard kept the Orillia squad off-balance. Tom Eager staked Haliburton to a three goal lead with just 12 minutes left in the game but Orillia answered with a goal of its own, placing a marker behind Haliburton goaltender Brian Moore a minute later.

Haliburton's home opener was played a week later, on May 14 at the Archie Stouffer field and in a well-played, tactical game, Haliburton defeated Huntsville 2 - 0 on goals by Ivor Thompson and Joe Maucuso.

Thompson's goal was the product of a pinpoint pass on a through ball by Chris Carl half-way through the first half.

The insurance goal by Maucuso was the reward for a great second effort

The Times Junior Soccer Team played an excellent game during their home opener against Muskoka Inter on May 14. The juniors won the game 4-2 to even their record to one win and one loss. The Westside Jug City Senior team also won their half of the back-to-back double header by outpointing Huntsville 2-0.

and hustle to pounce on a loose ball which rebounded in the six yard box.

The defense of Al Jopling, Kevin Sicard,

Dave Bush and Tim Haxton dominated play in Haliburton's end to the point where goalkeeper Moore only had to handle one shot by the opposition. The two wins at the start of the season is the best

Track team earns 23 COSSA medals

The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School track and field team jumped another hurdle in its successful 1989 season.

Last Thursday the team took part in the Central Ontario Secondary School Athletics (COSSA) competition held in Napanee and won 23 medals. The Boys team was second overall on the day and 23 Haliburton competitors advanced to the Regional competition in Peterborough this Friday.

Darren Warburton accomplished a spectacular, if unusual, feat by breaking the COSSA record in the 400 meter junior boys hurdles, not once but twice.

Warburton ran the race the first time and took the gold medal, breaking the Central Ontario record in the pro-

Juniors lose opener, win at home

The newly formed Times Junior Soccer team has evened its season record at one win and one loss after defeating Muskoka Inter

4-2 in the home opener on May 14.

The team lost its first game of the season to last year's defending league champions, Orillia Inter, by a score of 13-0 on May 7.

Scoring for the local team were Ryan Timbers, Darren Warburton and Jan Haedicke with two. Also providing strong play for the Juniors were David Kinsella and Roland Greber.

The Junior team is Coached by Walter Tose and Jim Milne and the players are members of the High School Soccer Teams who are taking advantage of the opportunity to play in the competitive league to help sharpen their skills for the coming season. The Minden Times is acting as the corporate sponsor for the team.

The Juniors' next game is in Midland on May 28.

The Junior Team now has a record of one win

Both teams play their next home game on May 28 at Archie Stouffer. The Juniors host the Midland Northstars at 12:30 p.m. followed by the Senior's match against Orillia Inter at 2:30 p.m.

Clare and Rheta Brown marked their fiftieth wedding anniversary April 29. The celebration was held at the home of their daughter, Ann Sloss, of Newmarket and included an open house with many friends visiting. The Browns moved to the Minden area 18 years ago. Joining Clare and Rheta for the celebration were, from the right, daughters Carol Brown, Marilyn Morrison and Ann Sloss and son Robert.

Minden 'trims fat' to present lean budget

Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Council had to do a lot of trimming to come out with a reasonable tax hike from this year's budget, says Reeve Ray Moore.

Property owners in the township will face a 12.48 per cent tax hike this year if, as expected, the budget is approved at the next council meeting.

"I have to congratulate the staff and council for the hard work done to keep our level of services even and tax increases at a manageable level," said Moore. "What looked like a 32 per cent increase has been pared down to 12.48 per cent for 1989."

The Reeve commented

on the new budget following the final budget session last week. Details of this year's budget will not be available until it is formally adopted at the next meeting of council.

Moore said council worked through several "agonizing" sessions to come up with the new budget. "This council has spent many agonizing hours going over the budget for 1989. With all the increases in taxes our federal and provincial governments have subjected our ratepayers to, we have to maintain our level of services, cut out the fat, delay projects and live with non-arbitrary decreases in road and bridge expenditures."

One project that will not be delayed, though, is the first phase of the Minden Parks Plan. Moore said council is willing to take $78,000 from the reserve fund to match the provincial grant that was announced last week.

Because this money is coming out of the reserve fund, Moore notes that it doesn't affect this year's taxes.

With all the development taking place around Minden, the Reeve is optimistic the assessment will increase by next year, easing the tax burden on individual residents. "It is my hope the industrial park will come on stream next spring and create much-needed com-

County to study Home

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The county's clerk-treasurer Gary McKnight has been commended for the role he is playing in filling in as administrator at the Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home.

Bicroft Reeve Bill Howe, the chairman of the Hyland Crest committee, reported on the state of affairs at the home to County Council and said "the situation is very good, employee-wise and patient-wise".

Howe told council that the committee has been in touch with the Ministry of Social Services and has commissioned an administrative study of Hyland Crest. The study is currently in the hands of the consultants, said Howe, and should come before council by the end of June. After considering the study, Howe said the county will then implement a system of administrative procedures and start looking for a full-time administrator. He said there is not much use in hiring a new person to fill the position until the study is done and the new procedures are in place.

Howe said there has been "scuttlebutt" about administration, but assured the councillors that "the feelings are quite good."

Reduced funding means county can't do as much road work

Obee said it would take 30 years to rebuild the entire County road system. In 1975 the county was funded at nine per cent per year and at that rate it would have only taken 11 years to rebuild the system. At the existing reduced funding level, Obee said that considerably less work to the roads can be done.

The county also receives 12 per cent of the estimated five-year resurfacing needs per year and all of the annual maintenance and eligible fixed cost needs.

According to the report, cost sharing between the county and the province is based on identified needs of the county compared to its ability to raise money to meet these needs.

In 1989, the basic spending level for county roads is estimated at $2.9 million consisting of a total construction objective of $1.25 million and $1.67 million for fixed costs. The county is responsible for $676,200 and the province picks up the remaining $2.24 million. The effective subsidy rate for all of the county's 1989 roads expenses is 76.8 per cent.

Obee said that Haliburton has, for years, been funded at the provincial maximum of 80 per cent.

As compared to 1988, the estimated expenditures in 1989 show a slight decrease to due a 8.8 per cent drop in projected spending on construction. The amount spent on construction in 1989 will be the lowest since 1985.

According to Obee the five county roads which top the county's list of work to be done are Deep Bay Road, Kennis Lake Road, McGillvray Road, South Lake Road and Harburn Road.

Minden kids tell us why their moms are very special

Minden area children think their mothers are pretty special. That was obvious from the many entries received in the Minden Business Improvement Area's "Why I Think My Mom Is The Best" competition.

The children were invited to express, in 50 words or less, what they felt made their mother so special. Over 100 entries were received, and needless to say, the judges had a difficult time selecting the three prize-winners. "It was obvious all the youngsters had written from their heart," Wayne Henderson, one of the judges, commented. "Unfortunately we only had three prizes to award; all the entries were certainly deserving."

The judges selected the entry of grade two student Lisa Cowen as the best submitted. She and her mother win a dining experience at the Schnitzel House in Minden. Raymond Ranson, grade four, was the second prize winner. His prize is a $30 gift certificate redeemable at any Minden BIA merchant. Jeff Wray, grade five, placed third and will enjoy, with his family, a family size pizza from the Rockcliffe Snack Bar.

Here is what the three prize winners had to say about their mothers:

Lisa Cowen found just the right words to describe her mother in the Minden BIA "Why I Think My Mom's The Best" competition. For her award winning effort, Lisa and her mother, Susan, will enjoy dinner at the Schnitzel House courtesy of the business association.

First prize

I think my mum is the best because she listens to my problems and helps me solve them. Sometimes she bakes muffins or cake. Once in a blue moon she even gets me a chocolate bar! But most of all, I love her because she is herself.

by Lisa Cowen

Second prize

I think my mom's the best because.....She is kind and smart plus she always looks nice. She has great ideas and she's really athletic. She's totally brilliant with costumes, but best of all, she's really fun to be around.

Sincerely,
Raymond Ranson

Third prize

I think my mom is the greatest because she is there when I need her. She is special, because when I have a problem, she comforts me until the problem is solved.

She's neat because, when we go fishing, she even baits her own hooks, and she makes fabulous meals out of them.

She's special because she loves me, and I love her.

cess. After the race, officials discovered that the hurdles had been set at an improper height. Upon consulting the rules the track officials told Warburton he could keep the gold medal and the record but if he wished to advance to the regional competition he would have to run the race again.

Warburton ran the event at the end of the day against one other competitor and won, breaking another record.

Overall the team brought home four gold medals, six silver medals and 13 bronze medals. The top four competitors in each event qualify to compete in the regionals.

Following is a list of results for the Haliburton athletes.

Among the Midget Girls, Vicky Beach placed third in the 400m hurdles, Jackie Smith placed second in the shot put and fifth in the javelin and Arlene Simmons placed second in the triple jump.

For the Senior Girls, Tanya Willison placed third in the 400m and also placed third in the 400m hurdles. Karen Chatterton placed fifth in the high jump.

Learning the planning ropes

More than 60 area residents, representing a surprising variety of vocations, attended a planning seminar at the PineStone Inn last Thursday. Many of the people at the day-long seminar commented that this sort of thing is long overdue, especially with the current pace of development in the county. The seminar was organized and hosted jointly by the building officials from Minden and Stanhope Townships, Brad Bradamore and Jim Moore. Topics included rezoning amendments, Official Plan amendments and subdivision development.

mercial and industrial assessment."

A 12.48 per cent tax increase would seem high in other years, but it is in line with what other municipalities are facing this year.

The high increase is partly the result of new demands being placed on municipalities by the province. Moore notes that pay equity and environmental evaluations have been forced on the township this year by provincial legislation.

The Norland Trading Company has acquired a reputation over the past five years as a location for those wanting to purchase rare or unusual fire-arms. This aspect of the business has attracted buyers from throughout southern Ontario to the store on Highway 35. ONTARIO GOVERNMENT NOTICE PUBLIC INFORMATION CENTRE for the MINDEN CROWN MANAGEMENT UNIT

The Minden District of the Ministry of Natural Resources is currently in the process of preparing a timber management plan for the Crown lands of the district, shown shaded on the map below. The current management plan will expire in 1990.

Timber management plans are prepared and implemented to ensure a sustainable and continued timber supply from Crown lands in Ontario to local forest industries, in order to provide both employment and forest products. The plan for the Minden Crown unit will govern all forestry activities to be carried out on this area during the period from 1990 to 1995, including logging, reforestation, stand improvement work and the construction of any new main logging roads. The plan will also contain details on calculations of sustainable harvest levels and on modifications to protect other Crown land interests and environmental values.

At this stage the Ministry has pinpointed the timber stands in which it is now proposing logging operations and those areas in which it intends to carry out reforestation and other silvicultural activities during this period. No new main all-weather access roads are being proposed.

You may inspect these proposals at a Public Information Centre to be held in Minden, at the Minden Curling Club building on June 17, 1989 from 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Information will also be provided on the exact nature of these operations, on other forest uses and values which have been identified in their vicinity, and on the measures being proposed to protect these other forest uses and values. (Other forest uses and values include such features as deer yards, fisheries and recreation trails). Members of the planning team will be on hand to answer your questions.

Following the Public Information Centre, the public will have a 30-day period to respond to the plan's proposals. During this period, these same maps and documents will be available for viewing at the Minden District Office.

Any group or individual having concerns regarding the timber management plan proposals is asked to submit written comments by July 17, 1989 to:

Government works to control debt; Scott

by Bill Scott, M.P.

Canadians have a serious problem, our large and growing public debt.

An hour from now, that debt will have grown by $3 million. In just two weeks, Canada will fall behind by nearly $1 billion.

The cost of financing the debt has also grown. Twenty years ago, 12 cents on every dollar collected through taxes went to interest payments. In September 1984, a staggering 32 cents of every tax dollar went toward interest payments. This year, it will be 35 cents.

The recent surge in interest rates shows how vulnerable we are. In just one year, the projected cost of making interest payments on the debt has risen by $6 billion. This year, interest payments alone will cost Canadians $39 billion. Clearly, a sudden jump in interest rates could be crippling.

And how did we find ourselves in this mess? By living beyond our means.

The debt places all Canadians in an unacceptable position, and this government is determined that it must not continue. The new budget recognizes that to maintain the social programs and high standard of living Canadians want for themselves and for their children, a serious program of debt reduction must be undertaken.

Already, the government has made significant progress. In 1984, the debt grew at a rate of 24 per cent; last year that growth rate was cut to 10 per cent. But despite that progress, the debt continues to grow more rapidly than our national income.

It is, thus, with a sense of urgency that Finance Minister Michael Wilson embarks on the present budget-cutting course.

Spending will be reduced, and this will affect a wide range of programs. As well, the budget proposes revenue increases affecting corporate and personal income taxes, sales taxation and the financing of the Unemployment Insurance program. Effective January 1, 1991, the government will proceed with reform of the federal sales tax.

These debt control measures will be worth more than $5 billion this year and $9 billion next year. By 1993-94, the annual deficit will be cut in half to $15 billion. Financial requirements, the amount that must actually be borrowed, will be reduced to $3 billion from the current $20 billion. And as the deficit goes down, the accumulated debt will shrink as a proportion of our national income.

Control deficit and debt will look after itself

Deficit reduction is not easy; tough choices have to be made. But the budget ensures that the total package of measures is balanced, reflecting regional circumstances and placing greater burden on those best able to carry it.

This budget is about building for the future, not borrowing from it. That is why the government is taking aim at the prime obstacle to that future - the problem of our growing debt.

The cost of successful debt reduction may seem high, but the price of failure is unimaginable.

Correction

A cutline in last week's edition of The Times incorrectly identified a high school student reading to Archie Stouffer Elementary School students as Tanya Willis. The high school student is Teresa Willis.

Clarification

The project to upgrade the Stanhope Township Airport has no effect on this year's tax increase for Stanhope Township residents.

The municipality's financial commitment to the project is being transferred from a reserve fund that was established for this purpose.

Margaret Rickert, Area Councillor, Alma, Ontario

Alma Area Councillor, Margaret Rickert, is one of a growing number of municipal leaders to endorse Retail Postal Outlets. Over ninety percent of our customers say service at Retail Postal Outlets is as good as or better than the former post office.

COMMUNITY BENEFITS

In many rural communities across Canada, where postal services have been converted to a local business, community leaders appreciate the benefits the town receives from increased access to postal products and services.

Overall the change from a corporately-operated post office to a Retail Postal Outlet run by local business means:

Longer hours of service, often including weekends and evenings.

More outlets. Over the next few years the number of outlets will grow from 5,000 to 7,000 across rural Canada.

More business. Retail outlets, operated as part of a local business, help strengthen the business base of the community.

*Canada Post Corporation is delivering on its promise.
We're in rural Canada to stay.*

Lindsay Legion welcomes comrades to D-Day parade

"... The eyes of the world are upon you. The hopes and prayers of liberty-loving people everywhere march with you. In company with our brave allies and brothers-in-arms on other fronts, you will bring about the destruction of the German war machine, the elimination of Nazi tyranny over the oppressed peoples of Europe, and security for ourselves in a free world... We will accept nothing less than full victory."

This was part of Supreme Commander General Dwight D. Eisenhower's message to the Allied armies on the eve of the invasion of Europe 45 years ago on June 6, 1944.

On Saturday, June 3rd, this year, Lindsay Branch 67 of the Royal Canadian Legion will hold a parade to commemorate this great event. We have sent out invitations to all branches in the area and invite all veterans to come and celebrate with us.

At press time, we can confirm over 400 marchers with 25 to 30 colour parties. Bands will be attending from Trenton, Peterborough, and Haliburton. The Barrie and District Pipes and Drums (a massed band) along with the Lindsay Pipes will also be present.

The parade will start from the Branch on York Street at 11:15 a.m. All comrades and veterans will fall in at 11:00. The route goes along York Street to Kent Street and thence to the cenotaph for a special service conducted by Branch 67 padre, Clifford Wait, DSC.

The Kawartha Brass will sound The Last Post and Reveille and provide appropriate music for the service.

The return route will go north on Victoria Avenue, west on Peel Street, south on Sussex, and east on Kent to the Legion on York Street.

On the return march, the parade will pass the reviewing stand in front of Town Hall with Major Ferguson (Ret.) taking the salute. Other dignitaries on hand will include MP Bill Scott, Minister of Municipal Affairs John Eakins, Mayor Lorne Chester, Police Chief Randy Martin, Zone Commander Ken Bell, Past Zone Commander Stan Moore, Branch 67 President Kathy Davies, Second Vice President Ontario Command Ladies Auxiliary Phyllis Montemiglio, and Ladies Auxiliary President Helen York.

The Parade Marshall will be Neil James, First Vice President of Branch 67, who landed on the beaches on D-Day in the turret of a Sherman tank with a 17-pounder gun.

The festivities after the parade will consist of food and refreshments from noon to 5:00 p.m., band concerts in the park from 2:00 to 4:00, and a Millionaire's Day in the Vimy Room from 1:30 to 4:30. You will even be able to barbecue your own steak out on the lawn.

PUBLIC INFORMATION CENTRE FOR THE VICTORIA COUNTY AGREEMENT FOREST MANAGEMENT PLAN

The Minden District of the Ministry of Natural Resources is currently in the process of preparing a twenty year Resource Management Plan for the Victoria County Agreement Forest, which is comprised of tracts in Somerville, Laxton, Emily and Manvers Townships (see map below).

The Ministry of Natural Resources, with the assistance and co-operation of the County of Victoria, has scheduled a Public Information Centre in Lindsay on June 20, 1989, to present information on progress made to date on the Resource Management Plan. The Information Centre will be held in the Victoria Room of The County of Victoria Building, 26 Francis Street, Lindsay, between the hours of 6:30 p.m. and 9:00 p.m.

All interested parties are cordially invited to attend and review preliminary proposals and potential alternatives currently being considered for the planning area. Members of the planning team will be in attendance to respond to inquiries and to discuss any new proposals which might be offered regarding the plan or planning process.

The Public Information Centre will include display material and information relating to:

- Agreement Forests and The Forestry Act
- proposed areas of forestry operations during the 5 year operating plan period 1990 to 1995, and the 20 year management plan period 1990 to 2010
- identified areas of concern (e.g. potentially conflicting land uses, deer yards and wintering areas, fisheries habitat, etc.) and
- alternate ways in which operations might be conducted in these areas to achieve the preferred or most acceptable management options.

Following the Public Information Centre, a thirty day period will be provided for public response to the plan proposals. During this period, the information material will be made available to the public by contacting the Minden District Office (705-286-1521) or the Lindsay District Office (705-324-6121).

Any groups or individuals with concerns regarding the Resource Management Plan proposals are requested to submit written comments by July 24, 1989 to:

Snowmobiles are not harmless: reader

Editor:

Mark Lester, director of the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association, who has stated that snowmobiles do not harm the environment, needs to be informed. So do all the permanent and seasonal residents of this region.

Snowmobiles and all terrain vehicles burn leaded gasoline and oil. Both are serious environmental pollutants. Leaded gasoline emits: sulphur oxides, nitrogen oxides, lead, manganese, carbon, and unburnt oil that films on the snow and later enters the waterways or is absorbed by the soil.

Beyond the above, the manufacture of these machines produces a large quantity of environmental pollution.

In addition, the trails left by snowmobilers on land and lake ice delay the advent of spring. Anyone who wishes to check lake ice during the thaw, will see the network of ice bridges left by the snow machines. Such bridges hold back the thaw. On the land, the frost sinks deeply into the ground wherever a snow machine has tracked. This also delays the thaw.

When a thaw is delayed, literally thousands of seeds and micro-organisms, vital to the well-being of the land and water, die as a result.

So, apart from adding to the already serious acid rain problem; apart from discharging waste oils and carbons that enter the waterways--and thus the drinking water supplies; apart from pumping lead and heavy metal particles into the environment, and apart from delaying the spring thaw along land and ice trails, snow machines are also guilty of creating noise pollution.

It is perhaps understandable that a woefully misinformed partisan of snowmobiling should believe that these machines "do not hurt the environment," but newspaper editors have a responsibility to the public. If they be professional, they check the information given them by sources.

Should you, or any of your readers wish to check the information contained in this letter, they can do so by contacting the Federation of Ontario Naturalists in Toronto, the Canadian Nature Federation in Ottawa, or Pollution Probe, also in Toronto.

Leaded gasoline for automobiles is being rapidly phased out. This is because it was established more than 20 years ago that for every ten thousand miles driven, a leaded gasoline car discharges seven pounds of lead into the atmosphere.

We all wish to prosper in our society, but the short term economic--and frankly minimal--gains offered by the trail loop will surely lead to the degradation of Haliburton's pristine countryside, will damage the health of our citizens, and, in the end, will cause our real estate to be devalued.

Diamond repairs

Editor:

As a representative of one of the teams which has made major use of the Minden ball diamond over the years, I was encouraged to see the provincial grant of $78,000 made available for upgrading the facility. We of the Rockcliffe Hustlers hope the municipal council will match that effort and create a proper diamond and support facilities for use by all teams in the community.

A diamond in the rough

Over the years, the Hustlers have put a great deal of their own time and money into the maintenance of the diamond. Not only did we assist with repairs, but the purchase of lime each year for the lines has fallen to us.

A number of years ago, a plan for the development of the diamond and area called for the installation of bleachers built into the bank, a properly maintained grass field and other facilities. These have yet to materialize and the field, which I would class as the worst in all the parks we play in, is still a loose mixture of sand with strands of grass bravely poking through. The uneven field is not only unsightly, but is a hazard for people running or when a ball takes a "dirty" hop.

The diamond has received little or no attention from the recreation board over the years. Do they not care what it looks like?

There are more than 12 teams using this diamond, sometimes creating a conflict in scheduling. Recreation baseball is a game that can be enjoyed by just about everyone, and if you can't play, it's fun to watch. One diamond is not enough to meet the needs of all the teams.

As the sponsors of a major tournament each August, and as weekly users and supporters of the diamond, we would like to see the township support in funding the upgrading and the recreation committee's backing for fixing up the existing facilities and creating a new park.

Brian Shaw,
Minden.

Money for diamond would be well spent

Editor:

In response to your editorial of May 15, I would like to support the idea of spending money on recreation programs and facilities as making good economic sense.

I believe Minden's municipal council should spend $78,000 and use the matching $78,000 grant from the Ministry of Culture and Recreation now being offered.

They should spend this money because the ball diamonds in this community are few in number and below proper standards. Good facilities will promote "play ball", that eternal summer activity. More and more people, both young and old, are enjoying the game. One has only to look at the rapid growth of the mixed slow-pitch league, now involving more than 200 people, to appreciate the game's popularity.

With more and better facilities, new leagues can be developed, perhaps tailored to the very young members of the community. As well as developing future talent for the Blue Jays and the Expos, recreational baseball promotes good mental and physical health. A recent report on children's mental health has emphasised the protective factors inherent in recreation. Involvement, achievement and an opportunity to make friends are all part of recreational sports.

A community that invests in its recreational programs and facilities, Winners at the weekly euchre games at Minden Legion on May 11 were: for lone hands Pat McMurter, Phil Sawyer and others Esther Lee, Betty Harper, Martha Mansfield and Roy MacDonald.

Annie Kernohan had some of her family visit her last Saturday and then she spent Sunday in Toronto with the Tom Parrish Family.

I was away last weekend, enjoying a visit with all my family in the Toronto area. I was certainly given the Royal treatment for the Mothers Day weekend.

At the Tuesday euchre games at Lochlin on May 16, winners were: lone hands Bruce O'Brien and Carl Francis, Bessie Burk, Marvis Burk and Rheta Crofts. This is the last of these weekly games until the fall.

Sincere sympathy goes to the family and friends of the late Ena Dart of Haliburton whose funeral was since last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Chamberlain and Mrs. Doug Chamberlain and Adam and Kristen of Scarboro visited one day last week with Audrey's sister Irene Moore.

Good birthday wishes to these people: Jessie Carpenter May 18; Trevor Clement and Ivan Ingram Sr. May 19; Alice Rivers May 21; and Jean Taylor May 22.

We understand Sid Rowe was going on crutches, hope your foot is soon better.

Master Alan Clement of Scarboro is spending some time with Pearl and Arnold Cowen and Harold as his mom is just home from the hospital following surgery. Get well soon, Teresa.

I am in somewhat of a mess these days as clearing out my home after 40 years. So this means you may have to phone in news, some of the time to The Times, but I will keep my same number and don't forget to keep trying on Wednesday nights.

The show by Hank De Beer is still on at our gallery until May 27: The shuffleboard group will start their euchre games at the Common Room at 1:30 p.m. on Thursdays, starting June 1: The Black Bear Car Rally will be going on during the weekend of May 27, starting at the Rockcliffe: That same date is Haliburton County Fair Annual Beef Barbeque at the recreation centre.

Verna Bagshaw and Nell Miscio, Susan and Bill Warder and friends are making plans for a trip down south and tour down through the western parts.

LONLINESS

A Mother sits alone as darkness is falling and all the while her heart is calling, where are you dear, where are you dear, where are you son tonight? I thought you were coming home for a while, I was so anxious to see your smile, but now you have gone away.

I wanted to sit and hold your hand, but I guess that sons don't understand how lonely a mother can be.

So I pray for you each passing day, that God will protect you along the way until we meet again.

Florence Robinson

The last card party for the year at St. Paul's Anglican Church saw Lil Martin take the most lone hands, low lady was Shirley Elcome, high man was Jack Chilton and low man was Charlotte O'Neill. The most lone hands went to Willard Bridgman.

At Club 35's euchre party this past week, winners were - 50/50 Doreen Bullied, most lone hands - Clint Branning, high lady - Doreen Bullied, high man - Bill Kleinschmidt and others - Barbara Lee, Mary Stevenson and John Klok. There will be a pot-luck supper on Saturday, May 27 at 6 p.m.

Experts wrong

Editor:

Something appears extremely wrong in our so-called flood management system, which of course, is a pet peeve with this writer. If one takes a look at the water flow system and the levels through the Drag River, you will notice the water levels are very normal, and there is little or no evidence of flooding. In fact, the lake levels are not at capacity on that particular system. This system feeds part of the Trent-Severn waterway.

The other system that feeds the Trent-Severn waterway is the Gull River series and you see flooding of lands from Minden through to Norland and it is claimed the lakes are full to capacity. However, I might add, with tongue in

I encourage Minden's councillors to take advantage of the grant and make the $78,000 investment in the community's future.

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down forward, backward and diagonally.

They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

cheek, that I live on the floodway the most dangerous area of all, and the area most prone to flooding and my hip waders and rubber dinghy do nothing more than sit on dry land and all I can do is mow the grass.

After taking a survey with some of the maps provided, i.e. flood-plain, etc., some of the situations that are designated as not being flood plain are totally under water. After looking at the Gull River all winter long and having a water flow that was so decimated it was pathetic, and now suddenly we see flooding in one access.

normal water levels in another, one has to be very suspect about water levels management procedures as well as the motives of the bureaucrats. Maybe Mr. Kerrio and Mr. Eakins would be well advised to take a look at the realities of the flooding situation and re-evaluate what has been done. It presently appears to me as one tremendous waste of taxpayer's dollars and maybe a little housecleaning of the bureaucrats needs to take place.

Plastic recycling depots planned

Editor:

A few months ago I mentioned that I hoped to place boxes next to recycling bins to collect plastic bags for recycling. I had spoken to an industrial plastics recycling company who have since experimented with household plastics recycling. Their results were disastrous because there was paper (usually grocery receipts) hidden in the bags, which caused contamination. General collection of bags could result in a situation which would ruin the efforts of many through the carelessness of a few. Having a collection depot seems to be the only possible solution.

The Eagle Lake Women have offered to host the first Plastics Recycling Depot in Eagle Lake between the hours of 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. on Saturday, May 27. Look for the signs. This

"YOUR KEY TO THE HIGHLANDS"

Putting plastic in its place

dedicated group of ladies, who have done so much to raise public awareness of environmental issues in the Highlands, have been sorting their plastic waste for months and are now encouraging others to do the same. I was so impressed with their enthusiasm and support that I decided to contact other groups who might wish to hold similar depots.

Last week Bernie Davis arranged for me to meet with a group of students from Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden. I was amazed to find how knowledgeable the students have become since their can recycling campaign. They had intelligent questions and very creative suggestions. I think they will be educating the rest of us soon. They are trying to arrange a depot in Minden on Saturday, June 17.

Wendy Bateman and Virginia Muenzel, creators of the plastic "Sweat Lodge" are hoping for an August 26 depot in Haliburton. Can they really stand to look at one more plastic bag? If someone from the Loop area is interested in sponsoring a depot we might be able to make a clean sweep of the Highlands.

Although the limited hours of depots may be an inconvenience, there is a bright side. Plastic food containers, without paper labels, such as yogurt, margarine, and some peanut butter tubs, can also be collected for recycling. If you are interested in recycling your plastics please follow these instructions.

- No food wraps, i.e. Saran, Handiwrap, etc.

- No paper products - even those tiny price stickers must be removed.

- No "biodegradable" bags.

- Grocery bags should be turned inside out and joined at the handles (preferably by using a grocery bag to tie them together). This ensures that no paper has been left in them.

- Bread, milk and other bags can be put into a grocery bag after all crumbs, etc. are removed or they are well rinsed.

- Food containers without labels must be washed and stacked.

If you are not sure of something, keep it separate and ask at the depot. Please don't leave your recyclables on a depot site before or after the stated times. It will likely end up in the dump and might just become litter.

These preparations may seem to be too much for some people. It is a lot of work, but these same rules used to apply to glass and tin products in the '70's when I was a volunteer in a recycling depot. We have to start somewhere. Why not here and now?

"WHERE THE ACTION IS"

A hard act to follow

We have had the expertise of Comrade John Beattie putting together this column for the past year. He has thrown the stylo to me to carry on what he so ably has done with this column from its beginning. John - you are a hard act to follow and we thank you for keeping us informed on both past and future happenings at Branch 636.

As of June 1st we start a fresh, new and eager executive on their way to steering this branch to bigger and better things, not only in the family of Legions but within our Community where we are most visible.

Having served on the executive of this Branch from its formation at a meeting at St. Paul's Anglican Church in April of 1987, I assume Comrade Beattie believes I am as able as anyone to "review the accomplishments of our outgoing executive" most of whom have served since the beginning or shortly thereafter.

One of the major hurdles has been the actual formation of a Royal Canadian Legion. This is particularly so when one realizes that the start up executive and Charter members, according to the rules and by-laws of Legion could not be drawn from other Branches. Those of us who suddenly found ourselves in offices and chairing committees of the new Branch were completely green as Branch administrators. Most of us were kept busy studying the various Legion books and manuals and questioning the officers at other Branches and Zones, District and Provincial Commands concerning the correct way to handle matters. Yes, we made many blunders and we sometimes tripped over our own feet and even stuck our feet in our own mouths at times, but for the most part I believe we also did many things right.

Our President, Comrade Anthony Samarillo, has ably chaired executive and general meetings. He has worked closely with all the chairpersons and has regularly, with the assistance of Comrade Ann McAdam, put together many productive meetings.

Under his guidance our branch held an impressive Charter Night in September of 1987 at the Arena when well over 400 people attended to witness Branch 636 become an official Legion. He has participated in the acquiring of a Legion hall and its grand opening. Our Branch has, during his time in office, held Remembrance Ceremonies, participated in Poppy Campaigns and has become a viable service organization in the Community. Our membership is now over 335 persons and still growing.

Aulis Orpana, Ann McAdam, Cliff Green, Frank Dunsford, Sally Bonner, Gareth Kellett, Muriel Bird, Ron and Betty Maddock, Eric and Isobel Lewis, Ken Wallace and yours truly have all worked diligently at their offices or on their respective committees. Space will not allow detailing of the many accomplishments made by these hard working executives. Accounting has been set up and administered as have the membership records. We have participated in the County Fair and paraded at other functions such as Warriors Day in Kinmount and Drumhead Services in Haliburton, Beaverton, Havelock and Brechin.

Three Legion funerals have been held and fund raising in the form of yard sales, bake sales, snow machine, boat, quilt and afghan draws and dances have been held with a profit. This executive, assisted by many branch members has raised sufficient money to pay off our 2nd Mortgage in the interval of our first year in our new building.

Twice now our Youth Public Speaking has been successful. Instead of our holding back on donations and putting our hands out for assistance from our friends on Councils and community merchants and our Comrades in other branches, we are now beginning to put a return back into the Community as a number of other worthwhile groups and organizations have learned. Again, this is largely because of the many hours of diligent organization and work by the executives and chairpersons who have served through the last two terms of office. To you, we the Al and Barb Lyons, and their son Bob, are the third and fourth generations of their family at the south end of Drag Lake. Al's grandparents, Fred and Anna Jones, established Drag Lake Lodge which provided the focus for the development of cottaging in the area over nearly 50 years.

Lyons are lucky cottagers

by Susan Wilson

We all know who cottagers are. They're people who live in Toronto (or some other place urban and at least two hours away). Every Friday evening for two to four months, they pile into the car, endure traffic jams and car sickness, and arrive at a home-away-from-home by the lake to spend about 48 hours keeping the place from falling apart before doing the whole thing over again in reverse. Sometimes Mom becomes a grass widow for July and August "for the benefit of the kids" and Dad gets to drive up and back on his own.

So what do you call someone who has lived in Haliburton all his life, whose house is 10 minutes from the cottage, and who can point with pride to four generations on the same lake? Most people would call him lucky and Al Lyons would be the first to agree.

"We're fortunate to be where we are. Had it not been for my grandparents developing on Drag lake, my mother couldn't have had a life on the lake and I'd probably have a trailer up in the Haliburton Reserve."

It's about 75 years since Lyons' grandfather, Fred Jones, came to the county to work as a clerk for Malloy Brian, a lumber company with a mill in Haliburton. Around 1920, Jones was introduced to Drag Lake by Bert Curry. In 1992, with his wife Anna who was born near Minden, he bought his first block of land at the south end of the lake from the Canadian Land and Emigration Company and built a small cottage.

As the decade went by, Jones bought more land on the lake. By the mid-1930's, because of the Depression, the company he was working for was laying people off. Jones felt there was potential for a fishing and family resort on his land. So he took advantage of the gift of time from the lay-offs to construct the

First day and last day are hardest, says Ellis

Australian family enjoying the Highlands

by Susan Wilson

"They warned us before we left that the hardest times would be the first day and the last day." Australians Peter and Wendy Ellis, who came to Minden last December for a year's teacher exchange, already know the first half of that dictum to be true. And they're having such a good time here, along with their sons Matthew and Luke, that they fully expect the second half to be right on too.

Peter is an elementary school teacher who has taken over Nick Pawluch's Grade Five class at Archie Stouffer Elementary School. Wendy is a teacher as well but, aside from helping out with Peter's music lessons and reading stories to younger children at the school from time to time, she's having a very pleasant year off. In addition to trading classes, the families have also swapped houses and cars (and the Ellises got the bonus of the Pawluchs' outdoor winter gear.

The Ellises readily confess to having the travel bug. For some time, they have been applying for jobs out of Australia, including places more exotic (though closer to home) like Thailand and Borneo. "We were offered a teacher exchange in New York state a few years ago," says Wendy. "But it fell through at the last moment. Actually, it was probably a blessing in disguise because I don't think it would be as nice there as it is here."

The teacher exchange program is run by the Ontario Ministry of Education and the New South Wales Department of Education. Once all parties have agreed to the switch, the information starts flowing. Not just official material, either. "It's up to the two families to organize the details of the swap," says Peter. "So we corresponded with the Pawluchs and talked to them on the phone. We also had to make our own travel arrangements. Many people think these exchanges are a free trip halfway around the world; but you have to pay all your own travel costs."

The Ellises came by way of Honolulu, where they stopped for a week, and arrived at Pearson International Airport on Boxing Day. The Pawluchs picked them up, drove them to Minden, showed them around the house, and headed back to catch their own plane ride south. (At the other end, the Pawluchs would be met by friends of the Ellises who agreed to act as community sponsors. There have been a few letters and phone calls back and forth since then. Word is that the Pawluchs are having as much fun in the Land of Aus as the Ellises are here and they've taken about 900 pictures plus some movies.)

Ellises, Pawluchs exchange countries, experiences

Since then, the Ellises have been taking full advantage of all that Haliburton and Ontario have to offer. They've been exploring this area after school and every weekend. They've been down to Toronto and up to Ottawa. This summer, they'll spend two months on the road, travelling first to the west coast and then coming back and heading down east to the Maritimes.

So what happened to make that first day a bit of a misery? Snow. Of course, everyone assumes that snow is the big excitement for people from Down Under when they come to the Great White North—especially when they come at Christmastime. But the Ellises are not strangers to snow. Their town of Queenbeyan (pop. 24,000) is in New South Wales near the national capital of Canberra and a half-day drive from the Snowy Mountains where Aussies go for their downhill skiing. The Ellises have been there a number of times. But it's one thing to visit the white stuff and quite another to live in it.

Their first full day in Minden, the Ellises thought they'd go into town and do some shopping. They were barely out of the driveway before they got stuck. "I didn't know anything about rocking the car back and forth," Peter remembers, "or even just pushing it out, which we could probably have done. A neighbour saw our plight and very kindly came and got us unstuck. Then he took me out and gave me some lessons on how to drive in snow."

What the Ellises didn't expect to find was different kinds of snow. When they made, not a snowman, but a snow kangaroo, they found out that not every kind of snow works for that sort of thing. And they discovered freezing rain. And ice. "That was scary, when everything was covered in ice!"

(Back home in Queenbeyan, where the temperature rarely goes below freezing and -8 Celsius is the worst they ever experienced before coming here, the Ellises get a cold weather allowance of $270 a year—"to buy sweaters or something," says Peter wryly. Of course, no one there has central heating; so they found it a real

Maple Lake United Church

Maple Lake United Church was formed at the turn of the century by the amalgamation of two Methodist congregations. It was built at the intersection then known as Clarke's Corners (now Highway 118 and Stanhope Airport Road), on the site of an established burying ground.

by Susan Wilson

As a trustee of the congregation at Zion Methodist Church in Carnarvon, Joseph Cook wasn't at the meeting held on December 1, 1900, to discuss the amalgamation of the Maple Lake and Pine Lake congregations. But since Zion was headquarters of the Stanhope Methodist Mission, he was one of those who took it upon himself to ensure that the fledgling congregation became well established.

Cook assumed the duties of Sunday school superintendent at the Maple Lake church in its early years and instituted a family connection there that continues to this day. His daughter Ethel Cook Fader was a life-long member of the congregation and became church treasurer in 1947. Eleven years later, her daughter Grace Fader Morrison, likewise a lifetime member, was elected to the same post and has held it continuously for the past 30 years.

As treasurer, Morrison is custodian of the congregation's account book, a bulging black volume which dates back to 1902, the first full year of operation after the church opened at Clarke's Corners (Highway 118 and Stanhope Airport Road). The earliest pages are coming loose from the binding, but they still record in clear penmanship the income and expenses over nearly 90 years.

HISTORIC CHURCHES

According to Nila Reynold's book In Quest of Yesterday, the minutes of that turn-of-the-century meeting record that it "was held . . . at the home of Mr. Durlin Demmill, composed of committees from Maple Lake and Pine Lake Methodist congregations presided over by the Rev. H. W. Foley, superintendent of the mission." Earlier records show that the Maple Lake congregation numbered 25 in 1895; they were led by Hugh McPhail, assisted by Hiram D. Sawyer who was steward and Sunday school superintendent. The Pine Lake congregation numbered 21 that year, led by William Barnum Sr., with Daniel McIntyre as steward. As was the practice at the time, services of both groups had first been held in parishioners' homes and then in the nearest schoolhouse, once one was built. The cost of building a proper house of worship was probably prohibitive for either congregation on its own; hence, in all likelihood, the proposal to unite.

The names of those present at that initial meeting echo the current roster of church members: Archer, Barnum, Barry, Boice, Clarke, Fader, Fetterley, McIntyre—the same names to be found on many of the gravestones in the adjoining cemetery. In fact, the cemetery preceded the construction of the church by several years and its location seems to have determined where the new house of worship would be built.

At the initial meeting, it was decided to canvass the members again and to start up a subscription list. A second meeting two weeks later showed everyone in favour and a subscription list of 63 people pledging $250 in cash and labour. A building committee was struck which, within two days, had drafted plans for a church seating 150 people and a driving shed accommodating up to five teams of horses.

The coffers of the building fund were subsequently swelled by fund-raising events such as a tea at Pine Lake on May 4th which raised $19.70, another on September 16th which raised $16.95, and a social on September 18th which raised $6.55. Every little bit helped—and of course in those days, these bits weren't so little. All told, $559.34 was collected, $200 of it in credit.

While this was going on, lumber was hauled from George Stevens' mill on Boshkung Lake and from the mill in Haliburton to the church site. A Mr. R. Gordon received the contract for the job and was paid $115 for 12 weeks' work. The accounts show that a lock was purchased in September indicating, as Reynolds suggests, that the main work was completed by then. The congregation held its first services in their new building in December 1901, just a year after the founding meeting. It was dubbed by some the "Twentieth Century Church" since its founding so nearly coincided with the arrival of the new century. By May 1902, they had an organ—the first of three—and a new pulpit purchased from a Sunday school in Lindsay.

Although it doesn't look like it now, Clarke's Corners was then the central focus of the surrounding farm community. In addition to the church, there were two other buildings of public importance. In about 1920, when Stanhope financed and built the first telephone system in Haliburton, the Central Office (as the phone operators' office was called) was located directly opposite on the other side of the highway. The school house—S.S. No. 2 Stanhope—was just north at the bottom of the hill on the other side of what is now Airport Road. Indeed, the school building is still there, but it is now a private home.

Sitting in her bright, spotless kitchen on a chilly May afternoon, Grace Morrison remembers walking the two miles to both church and school all her young days. She still lives in a house that stands on the foundation of the one she was born in, though she now makes the trip by car with her husband Charles. She also remembers Sunday school picnics in Tandy's Field off Norley Road, with baseball and other games and races and lots of food. Like many others, she was baptised, confirmed and married at Maple Lake.

As her account book shows, the congregation of Maple Lake Methodist (now United) Church has continued to take care of their building in many ways, large and small, over the years. In 1948, the pine floor and pews were sanded and varnished by Morrison's father Jim Fader and her brother Claude. That year, Ralph Joyce filled in the cracks and painted the walls above the wainscoting. When hydro came to the church in 1949, the young peoples group did the wiring under the direction of Claude Fader. The wood stove, which sat in the middle of the aisle, was replaced in 1954 with an oil stove; this in turn was replaced by an oil furnace in the basement in 1960.

In 1956, the church was renovated. Yet, to everyone's credit, the interior today looks much like the descriptions of it in the early days: V-joint wainscoting halfway up the walls, lath-and-plaster above to the patterned wood-block ceiling, tall arched windows letting in plenty of light, high-backed pine pews. High up in the front wall is a circle of metal showing where the stove pipe once went out through the north wall. At the back of the tiny raised chancel is a simple dark wooden chair which dates from the first days of the church. On the floor in front of the railing is the lectern with its dark red drapery and the modest wooden altar donated by Robert Deacon in memory of his wife, Elizabeth Ann Baker.

The basement was dug out in 1958 by Verle Fader; the cost of the block walls, laid by Arnold Fearrey of Haliburton, was raised by church members and adherents. Orval Harrison repainted the church in 1963, the same year that the kitchen in the basement was wired. A new organ was donated in 1964 by a cottager, Mrs. L. R. Brennan, in memory of her husband. Its replacement arrived in 1986, the gift of Dale and Wanda Anthes. The roof was also reshingled in 1986 and a well was drilled. Thanks to the hard work of the women of the church, new washrooms were installed in 1987 to replace the outdoor privy. Last summer, the front door was replaced.

This story of the continuing devotion of a congregation to its church as shown through their attention to its building is not an uncommon one. But neither is it to be scoffed at, for all its mundanity. The people of Maple Lake United continue to care for a legacy created by their parents and grandparents. Eileen Barry, for instance, was a long-time superintendent of the Sunday school and

Much goes on in spite of the apparent calm

by Marion Strebig,
Federation of Ontario Naturalists

In this cool, late spring it is easy to think that everything is standing still. But on the Bruce last weekend, although there were no wild flowers yet, the wild leeks were poking up in the woods and the leaves of water plants like water arum and common arrowhead were unfolding in wet places. And everywhere the birds were busy.

The Bruce with its varied topography of limestone cliffs, ferns, and marshy lakes is a haven for all kinds of birds, some of them rare in the rest of southern Ontario. Since once of these birds, the Sandhill Crane, was settling in to nest near where we were staying, I got the chance to watch these strange, awkwardly graceful birds for the first time. They resemble a thickset Great Blue Heron which has acquired a feather bustle. But unlike the Great Blue Heron which is often mistakenly called a crane, these are true cranes, relatives of the celebrated Whooping Crane.

How has something so large escaped the fate of its cousin, the Whooping Crane, and even succeeded in recolonizing old nesting areas like those on the Bruce? Perhaps the answer lies partly in its colour. Unlike their relative, the Whooping Crane, which is white, they are a greyish dun colour, relieved only by the adult's bald red crown patch. With this colouring they blend with the vegetation of their favoured habitats - wetlands and meadows.

The first Sandhill Cranes of the weekend were resting near a wood on the edge of a field. But they blended so perfectly with the bleached remains of last year's vegetation that no one but an expert would have spotted them. Fortunately, as I was on a Federation of Ontario Naturalists Membership Trip, I had the services of an expert.

Martin and Kathy Parker, who run this program, know the Bruce intimately. When we arrived at the bed and breakfast place where we were staying, Martin would not let us unpack until we had gone with him in the rain to see the great birds which we had all passed without seeing. The next day I was able to get a better look at one moving with stately grace, among a flock of Canada Geese which included one Snow Goose.

On Sunday morning I saw two flying, long necks outstretched, one above the other so that they looked like one bird with four wings. And they were calling. One call was a peculiar shrill yodel, and the other like a magnified version of the noise a child makes when it strums its cheek with a finger.

A not uncommon breeder in the northern muskeg, the Sandhill Crane has reappeared recently along the western fringes of southern Ontario where it had been wiped out years ago. The large wetland areas and meadows of the Bruce perfectly suit the Sandhill Crane's requirements for nesting.

Saturday evening we walked over to the large marshy lake, where the cranes nest, to listen for night sounds. The evening was still, clear and crisp, and the growing moon was translucent as a salamander eggcase. A female mallard sounded the alarm, and sounded and sounded until we were ready to choke her. A Pied-billed Grebe rattled and finally Sora Rails replied to a taped call.

Congregation has had its ups and downs over the past 30 years is still a member of the church board. Margaret Horsley was the organist for many years; the post is now filled by Kathleen Owens. Everette Upton (grandson of Henry Sawyer, one of the first treasurers) still does a lot of work for the church, as does his wife Ethel who is another grand-daughter of Joseph Cook.

Morrison has seen the Maple Lake congregation wax and wane over the years. "It seems to thin out as the older generation peters out and then a new one comes along." Current membership stands at about 50, though attendance slips a little in the winter with some folks off to Florida and swells a bit in the summer with the influx of cottagers and tourists.

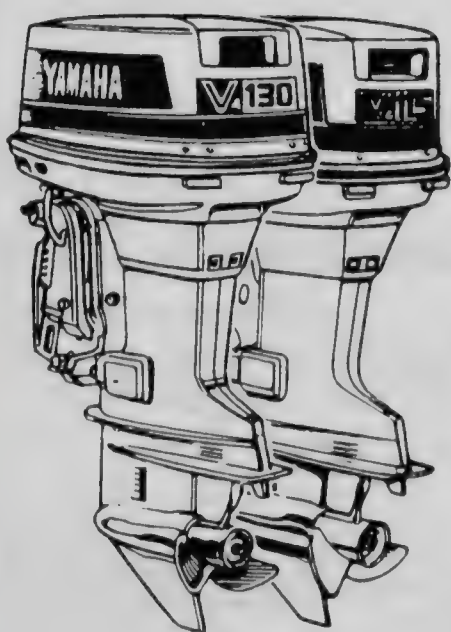

The 20th century is almost over and the Twentieth Century Church looks well set to usher in the 21st. Many of the men and women who built and sustained it now lie in the graveyard outside. They would doubtless be proud of the care it has received from the hands of their descendants.

Maple Lake United Church is located west of West Guilford at the junction of Highway 118 and Stanhope Airport Road. Services are held Sundays at 10 a.m. throughout the year.

This is the first in a series of articles on historic churches in Haliburton County appearing in This Week in the Highlands throughout the summer.

KENNISIS LAKE 705-754-2002

Drag Lake Lodge was more than just a resort

main building of Drag Lake Lodge, making the original cottage into the resort kitchen.

Jones acquired a load of lumber from the Bank of Montreal which had taken over the assets of the Austin Lumber Company and hired many of his friends and associates to do the work. To finance the project, he sold off some of the land he had bought during the previous decade.

But Drag Lake Lodge was always more than just a resort. It is no exaggeration to say that it provided the focus, the feasibility, even the heart and soul for the development of cottaging around the south end of Drag Lake. Al Lyons is very proud of that.

"I'm sure that anybody you talk to around our end of the lake, if you ask them to tell their story, they'll all end up talking about the lodge.

It began when people from the city who bought land—whether from Jones or anyone else—needed someone to look after their property and provide services. Jones would help them get the cottage built—arranging for labour; purchasing lumber, materials, and other supplies; and taking it across the ice in winter or boating it over in summer.

(Al Lyons can remember two big flat-bottomed wooden boats: "They were both about eight feet wide; one was 22 feet long and the other was 18. They were used to haul everything: cement, lumber, nail kegs, everything. We used them as late as 1963 and their remains were still there when we sold the lodge in 1979.")

Fred Jones made sure that the snow loads on the roofs didn't get too heavy, that the ice houses were filled, that the woodpiles were kept high, that any necessary repairs were taken care of. He even left a signature of sorts in several cottages. "He came up with a design for a kind of dormer window," says Lyons, "that was operated with a rope. Wherever I see those windows in a cottage, I know my grandfather had something to do with it."

The names of the cottagers who relied on Fred and Anna Jones seems endless. The Palmers' cottage was built in 1935 on land bought from Jones; a palace for the time at 1300 square feet, it cost $2,500 complete with a stone foundation and a stone fireplace about eight feet wide. William Nidry admired it so much he had one built just like it.

In the mid-1930's, Hud Stewart built a fieldstone cottage on the southeast corner of the lake about a mile from the lodge. It was later sold to a Miss Kaufmann whose family owned the Kaufmann rubber company in Kitchener. Jim Fink's place was built in 1938, the same year that Jones built John Harris' cottage. Charles LaFerle... Robert Love... Gordon Smith...

Smith was a story in himself, a New Yorker who used to go to Africa on safari. When a tornado went through many years ago, Smith's boathouse was picked up off its foundations and dropped several hundred yards out into the lake. It sank along with its contents including a cedar lapstreak boat, two outboard motors, and a number of lion and leopard skins.

Across the river and up on the hill, old Mrs. Salter had her cottage. Lyons remembers going over in the boat as a boy. "She was a reclusive, independent sort of person who loved nature and the woods. When she'd had enough of the city, she'd come up here as soon as the ice was gone and stay until the weather put her out. She carried water up the hill from the lake herself and tended her flower gardens. she always had a treat for me."

Because there was no road to any of the cottages until the 1950's, everyone drove

Many surprises in store for Australian family

pleasure here to be able to come out of the cold into a comfortable house without having to warm it up.)

There have been a few other surprises for them as well. At first, they couldn't find Minden on a map. Then they were told it had a population of 500. But even when they found out its true size, they were taken aback by the extent of the facilities here. "The variety of shopping, the sporting activities, the library, the size of the school—you wouldn't find these things in a town this size in Australia." A gym inside the school was new too because, in Australia, you can go outside to the playground all year long.

They are also intrigued by the school busing system which is more regulated than at home. "School busing is not on the same scale at home and you have to live at least 1.3 kilometres away before they'll let your children use the buses. The schedule isn't as reliable because the school buses spend the rest of the day as regular city transit buses. We don't have the rules about the traffic having to stop whenever the bus does. So we feel very secure about our boys going to school with this system."

The natural world has also held its share of wonder. "Glen Carter took me out cross-country skiing," said Peter, "and showed me animal tracks and bear-claw marks and the different kinds of trees. But what really surprised me was the silence of the bush in winter—there weren't even any birds singing."

The silence of winter has now been replaced by sounds that come with the thaw—sounds that are all the more conspicuous when you've never been through the hush of winter before.

Peter and Wendy have also been delighted with the sense of community here. It was one of the reasons they had requested a rural area and their instincts have been borne out. "In the shops, everywhere, people are so very friendly and we've been invited lots of places. Exchange teachers in Toronto are having quite a different experience. And they're especially envious of us because there wasn't any snow in the city this winter!"

The two boys have also been enjoying themselves. Matthew has been learning hockey, which he likes, and teaching some of his new mates to play cricket. Together they've invented a game that combines soccer with Aussie Rules football. After spending March break in Toronto, he's decided he hates the place. Snow is great because you can roll around in it and not get dirty! But he's not too keen on having to put on all the gear you need to go outside when it's cold. ("We were 20 minutes late everywhere we went for the first few weeks," recalls Wendy, "because we'd never leave enough time to get our outdoor clobber on.")

And he's learned some neat new words like 'dude' and 'awesome' and 'toque' and 'supper'. Supper? "We don't use 'supper' to describe a meal. What you call supper, we call tea. What you call lunch, we call dinner. To us, supper is a cup of tea and a biscuit in the late evening."

"Fortunately, the boys are just the right age," says Wendy. "Matthew is 11 and Luke is 7. So they're old enough to take part in everything. They're not shy types either; so they're making their own friends."

There are a few special Haliburton-type treats still in store for the Ellises, of course. They thought they might escape the caterpillars and black flies and mosquitoes by leaving for the West at the beginning of July. The news that the pestilences will largely be over by then was not received with enthusiasm.

But despite such normal nuisances, and notwithstanding the fact that there are still seven months to go until their last day in Minden, already the Ellises are not looking forward to leaving. "We're trying not to think about it. But the time is going so fast!"

Lodge a social centre

to the lodge and boated over from there. So the lodge became the social centre for everyone in the neighbourhood. A number of people who first came to Drag Lake as guests ended up buying and becoming cottagers themselves—people like Jerry Strickland, now the executive director of the Federation of Ontario Cottagers' Associations, who has a place up on Miskwabi.

In time the process reversed itself as the children of the cottagers became teenagers and had their first summer jobs at the lodge. Lyons' mother, Miriam Jones Ouellette, remembers how the boys would hang around the tuck shop trying to set up dates with the girls on staff. The lodge also provided the cottagers with staples, selling bread, milk, eggs, ice, candy bars, pop, ice cream, cigarettes, and newspapers. "There's no place on the lake like that now," she says, "and people really miss it."

In 1957, Fred Jones passed away and Anna ran the lodge with Miriam's help until she suffered a series of strokes. Miriam then took over the entire operation, nursing her mother until her death in 1970 and running the lodge through the summer of 1978. It was sold in February 1979, becoming Cam Ilahee Northwoods.

As children, Lyons recalls, "being at the lodge was like being at a cottage with lots of guests." It was also a lot of hard work; he remembers peeling potatoes, painting cabins, and cutting grass. "And then you'd run down to the lake and jump in the water."

But even as they were running the lodge, the family was thinking about having their own cottages. One year, Anna had a cottage built for a reclusive guest with the idea that someday it would be hers. "But she never even had a meal in it," says Miriam, who now enjoys her summers there with her husband Art Ouellette.

Miriam's aunt Blanche Crouter bought property from Fred for her cottage which is now used by Blanche's daughter Joanne Moore and her family.

Al and his wife Barb received the use of Sunrise Cottage on a sandy spit west of the lodge property when they were married in 1976. They put in a hot plate, made a two-seater outhouse from John Harris' outboard motor locker, and took their showers up at the lodge because Sunrise only had cold running water. That's where their ten-year-old son Bob got his first taste of cottage life.

In May 1985, Sunrise was torn down because it was too small and too close to the water to renovate. Al then built a new one further back on pilings made from scrap telephone poles.

Two years ago, Lyons became a director of the Drag Lake Cottagers' Association and is a vice president this year. He finds that the two kinds of cottagers—permanent residents and seasonal—have a great deal in common. "We all have the same concerns, particularly about the ecology and the health of the lake. No one wants to see it over-developed, either."

He finds city people still rely on permanent residents, just as they relied on his grandfather. "I get calls every winter from people asking how much snow there is or is the ice out or how's the road."

Even though he's never been a city boy, Lyons has a deep feeling for the magic, the mystique of a cottage. "There's a kind of anticipation every year as it's coming up time for the first visit. It must be even greater for city people. They must find something very extraordinary about cottage life to pound the traffic every Friday night and again on Sunday, only to get up here and find there's a tree down across the road or the pump has frozen up or the lake has dropped below the level of the foot-valve or whatever. And for every cottager who lives up here, there must be 50 who pound the traffic."

Contemplating this question renders Lyons quite philosophical. "What yearning is it," he ponders aloud, "that makes people go further into debt, put up with traffic, deal with the aggravation? What is it about cottage life?" What, indeed?

This is the second in a series of articles about cottagers on the lakes of Haliburton County.
